Mass. - S. H. Benson & Co. 1912, vol 1, pp. 330-337.

(Gen. S. Walter Spooner Allen of Sandwich, 1797-1880)

Says:

1968045

On March 20, 1835, there sailed from Weymouth in England for New England a ship, whose name is unknown, carrying something over one hundred persons under the leadership of Rev. Joseph Hill, and in this ship company were George Allen, Catharine his wife, his sons George, William and Matthew, and Edward Hale his servant, and from this George Allen came the line of Allens who have been identified with old Southwold.

Like so many of the early shiploads of immigrants to New England, the company was the head of that little company, and from the residences of several of those named in the passenger list it is safe to assume that this party was made up of friends and neighbors living on the borders of Somerset and Dorsetshire and decided to follow Mr. Hill to the new land.

Representative Men and Old Families of South Eastern Mass. J. H. Beers & Co. 1912. vol 1. pp. 350-357
(goes to Walter Spooner Allen of New Bedford - p. 357 - a.a.w)

says:

"On March 20, 1635, there sailed from Weymouth in England for New England a ship, whose name is unknown carrying something over one hundred persons under the leadership of Rev. Joseph Hull, and in this ship's company were George Allen, Catharine his wife, his sons George, William and Matthew, and Edward Poole his servant, and from this George Allen came the line of Allens who have been identified with old Dartmouth.

Like so many of the early shiploads of immigrants to New England, a clergyman was the head of this little company, and from the residences of several of those named in the passenger list it is safe to assume that this party was made up of friends and neighbors living on the borders of Somersetshire and Dorsetshire who decided to follow Mr. Hull into the new country across the ocean. ...

Sailing on March 20, 1635, this party arrived at Boston on May 6th. ... On July 8, 1635, the General Court at Boston passed this vote: "There is leave granted to 21 families to sett down at Wessagusset," and Sept. 2, 1635 this vote was adopted; "The name of Wessagusset is also changed and hereafter to be called Weymothe". ... In a list of the proprietors of Weymouth compiled between Oct. 26, 1642, and May 21, 1644, we find the names of a large number of those who came in Rev. Joseph Hull's party. ...

Although (I) George Allen, the immigrant was never a resident of Old Dartmouth, yet as the ancestor of those who were actual settlers here he is of great interest to us, and the records enable us to outline a fairly complete account of his connection with the early days of the settlements grouped about Buzzard's Bay. George Allen was undoubtedly a yeoman farmer living in the County of Somerset, England. ... He was probably not a member of the gentry, as the Heraldic Visitation of Somerset shortly before his emigration does not include his name, and therefore neither he nor his descendants were qualified to bear a coat of arms. ... He may have been in Lynn during the wait, as a George Allen is recorded as there about this time. His presence in Weymouth, however is plainly recorded with others of the Hull company, in the list of proprietors of ...proprietors of land in that town. In the list made not later than 2 1644 land is described as of George Allen and also land of Ralph Allen, who, although not coming in the same ship, was in all probability his son.

But although George Allen plainly held land in Weymouth, he did not remain there long, for in 1637
he is recorded in Sandwich. Although not one of Edmund Freeman's company to whom the grant of Sandwich was made, he appears among the members of the first church in 1638, and in 1639 was constable. In 1640-41 he was deputy to the General Court at Plymouth, and in 1641 was one of the committee to divide the lands in Sandwich, and was granted six and one half acres. In 1646 he built a house in Sandwich about a quarter of a mile from the Quaker meeting-house on the main road to the Cape, which stood until about 1882, when it was taken down. He died in 1648, and was buried in May 2<sup>d</sup> of that year. We do not know his age, but ... his name does not appear in 1643 in the list of those between sixteen and sixty able to bear arms, ... He is said to have been an Anabaptist before leaving England; His will, which was made in 1648, was probated Aug. 7, 1649, and made his wife Catherine executrix and named Ralph Allen and Richard Bourns as overseers. ...

His wife Catherine was married again to John Collins, and appears to have gone to Boston, as in 1655 Henry and Samuel Allen of Boston "deed to George Allen of Sandwich a parcel of land in Sandwich which came to them from their father, George Allen, with the consent of their mother, Catherine Collins, who has rights therein."

We do not know the names of all of George Allen's children, but some we can identify as follows: George, Ralph, Samuel, William, Matthew, Henry, Francis, James and Gideon. In all probability the last two belong to the "five least" children mentioned in the will and were the children of Catherine, and it is possible that Francis, who is not mentioned in the will, was also a child of Catherine. The others were undoubtedly children of a first wife, whose name is unknown. Of the children, Ralph and Samuel seem to have come over at an earlier date, and Ralph we find in Weymouth and a Samuel who is said to have been in Braintree before 1635, when he was admitted a freeman, is said to have been in 1620

The first of these is the fact that the land is not only a source of food and clothing but also a source of shelter and protection. The second is the fact that the land is not only a source of food and clothing but also a source of shelter and protection. The third is the fact that the land is not only a source of food and
protection.

The fourth is the fact that the land is not only a source of food and clothing but also a source of shelter and protection. The fifth is the fact that the land is not only a source of food and clothing but also a source of shelter and protection. The sixth is the fact that the land is not only a source of food and clothing but also a source of shelter and protection. The seventh is the fact that the land is not only a source of food and clothing but also a source of shelter and protection. The eighth is the fact that the land is not only a source of food and clothing but also a source of shelter and protection. The ninth is the fact that the land is not only a source of food and clothing but also a source of shelter and protection. The tenth is the fact that the land is not only a source of food and clothing but also a source of shelter and protection.

The eleventh is the fact that the land is not only a source of food and clothing but also a source of shelter and protection. The twelfth is the fact that the land is not only a source of food and clothing but also a source of shelter and protection. The thirteenth is the fact that the land is not only a source of food and clothing but also a source of shelter and protection. The fourteenth is the fact that the land is not only a source of food and clothing but also a source of shelter and protection. The fifteenth is the fact that the land is not only a source of food and clothing but also a source of shelter and protection. The sixteenth is the fact that the land is not only a source of food and clothing but also a source of shelter and protection. The seventeenth is the fact that the land is not only a source of food and clothing but also a source of shelter and protection. The eighteenth is the fact that the land is not only a source of food and clothing but also a source of shelter and protection. The nineteenth is the fact that the land is not only a source of food and clothing but also a source of shelter and protection. The twentieth is the fact that the land is not only a source of food and clothing but also a source of shelter and protection.

of Bridgewater in Somersetshire, England, and is undoubtedly of this family.

After the death of George, the family began to scatter. Ralph, George, William, Matthew and Francis remained in Sandwich, Henry and Gideon moved to Connecticut, James went to Martha's Vineyard and Samuel was in Braintree. ...

(II) Ralph Allen, Jr. ... is called a planter. ... it is probable that Ralph Jr., came to Sandwich about 1650. ...

Ralph Allen bought land extensively from three owners. Oct. 15, 1663, he bought from Alice Bradford, one half of her whole share which came to her from her husband, Gov. Bradford. April 29, 1672, "Sarah Warren, widow, for 33 pounds sells to Ralph Allen of Sandwich, planter, my half share in the Township of Dartmouth at Barnes his Joy on the southerly side of a parcel of land he bought of Constant Southworth which half share was in partnership between my deceased husband Nathaniel Warren and his brother Joseph Warren and lately divided," ... by the claim made before Benjamin Crane by his children, Ralph Allen bought apparently the whole of Constant Southworth's share. ...

Ralph Allen ... is one of the agents for the Proprietors of Dartmouth, in making an agreement with George Badcock and Henry Tucker concerning a gristmill in Dartmouth. ...

(This mill was located at Smith's mills or North Dartmouth. a.g.w.) He died in Sandwich and his will dated Dec. 18, 1691, was probated July 1, 1698. ... He divides his estate among his five children, Joseph, Increase, Ebenezer, Zachariah and Patience and he mentions his grandchildren Abigail and Joseph, children of Joseph. ... Four sons of Ralph and two sons of Matthew settled in Dartmouth.

Before Ralph Allen's death he had divided a large part of his Dartmouth lands by deed among his children. The land at Barnes his Joy ... to his son Ebenezer Allen, 4th m. 10th 1675, and on same day he gave ... to Zachariah and Increase ... the half share in Dartmouth ... bought of Alice Bradford. The 18th of 1st m. 1680, ... to his grandsons Joseph and John Allen, "both sons of my son Joseph Allen 1-3 of a whole share in Dartmouth ... bought of Constant Southworth of Duxbury. ...

Joseph Allen's homestead ... easterly end of Allen's Pond. ... Joseph Jr. lived at Corvitt on the west side "

Extracts from that excellent manuscript

George Allen of Weymouth 1635 ; of Lynn, Mass. , 1636 and of Sandwich, Mass. 1637-48.

Together with Some of his Descendants.

Compiled by John Kermott Allen of Brookline, Mass. 1924.

George Allen migrates to New England.

Rev. Joseph Hull, 1595-1665, was the son of Thomas and Joane Peson Hull of Crewkerne, Somersetshire, England. He was matriculated at St. Mary's Hall, Oxford on May 22, 1612, at the age of 17. He received his degree of B.A. at graduation Nov. 14, 1614. ... On April 14, 1621, he was instituted as clergyman of the Church of England to the rectory of Northleigh. ... He held the living until 1632, when he voluntarily resigned, being evidently not in accord with those in ecclesiastical authority. Leaving Northleigh, he removed with his family to the vicinity of his ancestral home at Crewkerne, and there gathered a company of 106 persons who on March 20, 1635, set sail with him from Weymouth, England, bound for New England.

The list of persons who made up this ship's company is published in "The Original Lists" by John Camden Hotten on pages 283-286. The list is headed: "Bound for New England, Weymouth, ye 20th of March, 1635." In this list are the names of George Allen, aged 24 years (The age is obviously erroneously given) Katherine Allyn, his wife, aged 30 years. George Allyn, his sonne, aged 16 years (Born 1619) William Allyn, his sonne, aged 8 years (Born 1627) Matthew Allyn, his sonne, aged 6 years (Born 1629) Edward Poole, his s'vant, aged 26 years.

The fact that George Allen sailed from Weymouth naturally causes investigators to surmise that he was a resident of Somersetshire or Devon. Hoppin, who made extensive investigations for the late Dr. T. Guilford Smith of Buffalo, a descendant of Ralph Allen Senior, wrote in "The Making of Smith" (in Pennsylvania Hist. Soc. Lib. in Phila.): ... Until the wills in the Registry at Wells, Somerset, have been examined, it is not safe to place reliance in this idea that George Allen was of the Thurcaston family."

The name of the ship bearing this colony is unknown. It arrived in Boston May 6, 1635. In Governor Winthrop's Journal, under date of July 8, 1635, there is this entry: "At this court Wessagusset was made a plantation, and Mr. Hull a minister of England, and twenty-one families with him, allowed to sit down there." p. 6

George Allen at Sandwich.

Before 1637 the territory of Sandwich, Mass., was a part of the vast uninhabited tract granted to the council of Plymouth. ...

It has been claimed that religious considerations led the band of ten men from Saugus (Lynn) to seek to make a settlement on the Cape. They sought permission from the Plymouth Court and on April 3, 1637, it was agreed by the Court "that these ten men of Saugus" headed by Mr. Edmund Freeman, "shall have liberty to view a place to sit down, and have sufficient lands for three-score families, upon the conditions propounded to them by the Governor and Mr. Winslow."

George Allen was not one of the "ten men of Saugus", but he was one of the original settlers. p. 11

On September 3, 1639, George Allen was "admitted freeman and after also sworn Constable of Sandwich for the remainder of this year". (Ply. Col. Rec. Court Orders - Vol. 1-2, p. 130) ...

On March 3, 1639-40, George Allen was appointed one of two surveyors of the highways for Sandwich. p. 12

In 1643 a list of men in Sandwich between the ages of 16 and 60 was made ... George Allen's name does not appear ... It is assumed, therefore that he was born previous to 1583. ... p. 14

According to the Sandwich town records, George Allen had granted to him 62 acres of land at Spring Hill. Here in 1646, 50 years before his death, he built a house, the date being carved on a buck in the chimney. This house was burned about 1892, when occupied by Mrs. Eliza G. Wing. The site bordered on the marsh that stretches away eastward to the sea. In 1903, when Mr. Hoppin, the genealogist and T. Guilford Smith, LL.D., visited the site, all that remained of the original site was a pile of large stones which were doubtless a portion of the foundation. A new house had been erected upon the site. The old house was in good condition when burned.

Another story about the house is contained in the Leonard Papers in the New Bedford Public Library. Under "Allen" notes, p. 2, Leonard says: "Stephen R. Wing, of Sandwich, under date of 2mo. 11, 1892, writes that George Allen's house was taken down some 10 or 12 years ago and nothing remains but the cellar cellar walls to indicate the spot. It was situated about a quarter of a mile from the front of the Quaker meeting house on the main road to the Cape.

(George)<sup>6</sup>

I assume that he means that the meeting house was on the main road to the cape. It probably was then, but the state road from Sandwich to Barnstable does not now pass the fine old meeting house, which is located a short distance from the highway.

In 1923 the writer visited the site. Another house has been erected upon the old cellar walls. It is the one reserved to by Mr. Hoppin, I presume, and is now occupied by a Mr. Packard. The blocks of stone from the original foundation are still where Mr. Hoppin and Dr. Smith saw them in 1903. Mr. Packard apparently owns the exact land allotted to George Allen. He told me he owned 62 acres of upland and 6½ acres of marsh land. The Spring Hill river meanders its winding way through the marsh land to the sea and bounds the property on the south and west. The low-lying sand dunes stretch away to the northwest, and the billowing salt grass blends almost with the waves of Massachusetts Bay.

How dearly George Allen loved the sea! When he first settled in New England, it was at Wessagusset, the easterly side of Weymouth Fore River, and from King Oak Hill, on which was his three acres of garden land, a magnificent panorama of sea and land spread out before him. When he went to Lynn, he was on the shore of that beautiful stretch of sea held in check by the neck to Nahant and by what is now Lynn Beach and Lynn Shore Drive. From his Sandwich home he could still watch the changing moods of the Massachusetts Bay, the far-stretching necks lying along the Sandwich shore. It may also be noted that in his will the last item of his devising is "my adventure in the barque".

So his love for the sea... when it shall have been established where in Old England George Allen migrated, I doubt not, should it fall out that he came from Somersetshire, Dorsetshire or Devonshire, that he will be found to have been dwelling on or near the Lynae, the English Channel, the Bay at Weymouth, the Bristol Channel or the water before Bridgewater's northerly shore. pp. 16-18 J. H. Allen's mms.

Did George come to America because of friendship with Mr. Hull's party, with Mr. Freeman, or because urged by sons Samuel and Ralph already here?
Anna A. Wright

A Suggestion

In the Harleian 'Society's' "Marriage Licenses by the Bishops of London," p. 146, is this entry:

"1624, Nov. 4. George Allen, of St. Michael Queenhithe, London, clothworker, and Katherine Starks, spinster, dau. of (blank) Starks dead at All Hallows, Honey Lane, London."

The Register of All Hallows, Honey Lane, London, p. 428, has this entry of the marriage:

"1624, Nov. 5. George Allen, of London, cloth worker, and Katherine Starks, of Woking, dau. of (blank) Starks, of Woking, in the County of Surrey, by virtue of a license."

The passenger list of the company of Rev. Joseph Hull, who sailed from Weymouth, England, March 20, 1635, gave the age of Katherine, wife of George Allen as 30. Her birth would have been in 1605, and on the date of the marriage referred to she would have been 19 years old. The age of George Allen's son William was given as eight years, which would show he was born in 1627.

In absence of proof, it cannot be stated with certainty that George and Katherine who were married Nov. 5, 1624, were the George and Katherine who came to New England, but it could have been so. It is worth noting that George, Jr., the son next older than William, was born in 1619, so there was an hiatus during which the first wife of George could have passed away and he remain a widower for some years.

The fact that he was a cloth worker and that Grantham, Lincolnshire, was in the cloth making district might point to his origin there. pp 6-7

The largest of the islands in Buzzard's Bay, not belonging to the Elizabeth Islands is West's Island, situated on the east side of Sciticut Point, a neck of land which makes out from Fairhaven, ... *Sciticut was the Indian name of Fairhaven. This island is about a mile and a half long, and three quarters of a mile broad. There are several good farms upon it, the soil being very fertile. It was formerly the property of <sup>P. 132</sup> John West, who left it by will to help support the industrious poor of the town of New Bedford, which then included Fairhaven. Since the division of this town in 1812, this island has belonged to Fairhaven."

Allen Land Locations

Joseph - His homestead was against easterly end of Allen's Pond with Ebenezer on the east and Increase on the west. p. 72

Joseph - one of the original proprietors of Dartmouth. In 1663 his farm of 160 acres lay east south-east of Ball Hill

Meeting house, and in 1900 was known as the Wilbur farm.

"In his will ... probated 1704, he gives ... son William  $\frac{1}{4}$  share of land in Dartmouth bought of William Palmer (This land was located on the east side of Acushnet river and had been bought in 1693.)" J. K. Allen in George Allen of Weymouth, Mass 1635; of Lynn 1636, and of Sandwich 1637-48.

Will: William 1760 - to son George land and marsh adjoining where he "now dwells on the westerly side of Sciticut neck."

George - 1763 - to sons George and Rufus "homestead farm."

William<sup>4</sup>

"Joseph Allen gave to his son William a lot of land which he bought of the Palmer Boys, whose father and mother were killed by Indians while on their way to visit John Cook's house. They, the Palmers went to Little Compton or Portsmouth after their awful loss. This was before the Indian War, 1676. William Allen had this land, there was 68 acres, but he was entitled to 325 acres more from his father, so he took the Fort lot of 51 acres and 3 or 4 more lots at "Perrys Bridge" now Faunces corners. William sold the Fort lot to James Sampson in 1716, who gave it by will to his son Henry. This Henry fooled it away by several mortgages to John Macy of Nantucket. John Macy's heirs sold it to Sylvanus Allen, who built a house there on the corner of "Love Lane" and Fort st. After Sylvanus Allen's death his heirs divided it, and so it went again. This homestead that Joseph gave to William was situated directly east of where Captain George Taber now lives, and it touched the east end of Thomas Taber's farm, about one mile from this village (Fairhaven) William was a large land owner. He exchanged land in many places; Dartmouth, Falmouth, Sandwich and Sconticut Neck (Fairhaven) and finally settled on Sconticut Neck, by the Narrows."

Was George<sup>6</sup> a Revolutionary Soldier?

Mass. Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolutionary War. Boston 1896 gives p. 151

Allen, George - Private, Capt. Benjamin Willcox's Co.; enlisted Dec. 8, 1776; service 17 days, on an alarm at Rhode Island; marched from Dartmouth to Howland's Ferry, R.I., to repel the British forces which arrived at Newport,
Dec. 7, 1776

There are in the same book other references to a George Allen, but the above was most suggestive of our George<sup>6</sup>.

I have from the Friends Records of East Sandwich sent me by Mrs.
William Rose. "A denial against George Allen of Dartmouth for being concerned in privateering... was read approved and signed
... 7-2-1777. A.A.W. (see Sherman notes)"

Allen Family (George<sup>6</sup>, John<sup>7</sup>) 17
George<sup>6</sup> and Luciana contin.

The following record is from Friends Records at Moses Brown School, Providence R.I.

Long Plain Preparative Meeting - Members 11mo, 1795

"Susanna Allen and her children

Eliashub, Seth, Ruth, Delany, Lucy, Rudry."

A note of East Sandwich (July 1938) tells us:

"Daughters of Susanna Allen, viz. - Ruth, Delany; Lucy and Rudry Allen, requested membership
3<sup>d</sup> of 7th mo. 1795."

Evidently George<sup>6</sup> had not been re-instated since his disownment 7-2-1777.

Since Eliashub and Seth were amongst the older children, they were probably "birthright Friends" but those born after 7-2-1777 would become members at the request of the mother.

It is interesting to note that in the same group at Long Plain or at Acquahmet were Rufus Allen and wife Rebecca; Nathaniel Delano and wife Dinah (Allen) with ch. Timothy, Robert, Fieleg, Mary, Rachel, Several Shermans, amongst whom were Suzannah, mother Ruth, sister Elizabeth, brother John with wife Experience (Kille) and several Braleys.

I have not yet found record of death of George<sup>6</sup> or Luciana.
